LYRICK

OF THE

PROPHETESS

OR THE

HISTORY

DEBORAH.

To His GRACE
CHARLES
Duke of Somerset,

Earl of HARTFORD,

Viſcount Beauchamp of HATCH,

Baron Seymour of TROWBRIDGE,

Chancellor of the Univerſity of CAMBRIDGE,

Lord High Steward of CHICHESTER,

And Knight of the moſt Noble Order of the GARTER.

YOUR Grace has been pleas'd ſo particularly to favour the Compoſition of the Muſick in Diocleſian, that from thence I have been encourag'd to this preſumption of Dedicating not only It, but alſo the unworthy Author of it to Your Protection. All Arts and Sciences have receiv'd their firſt encouragement from Great Perſons, and owe their Propagation and Succeſs to Their eſteem: like ſome ſort of Fruit-trees, which being of a tender Conſtitution, and delicate in their Nature, require the ſhadow of the Cedar to ſhield their Infancy from Blites and Storms.

Muſick and Poetry have ever been acknowledg'd Siſters, which walking hand in hand, ſupport each other; As Poetry is the harmony of Words, ſo Muſick is that of Notes: and as Poetry is a Riſe above Proſe and Oratory, ſo is Muſick the exaltation of Poetry. Both of them may excel apart, but ſure they are moſt excellent when they are joyn'd, becauſe nothing is then wanting to either of their Perfections: for thus they appear like Wit and Beauty in the ſame Perſon. Poetry and Painting have arriv'd to their perfection in our own Country: Muſick is yet but in its Nonage, a forward Child, which gives hope of what it may be hereafter in England, when the Maſters of it ſhall find more Encouragement. 'Tis now learning Italian, which is its beſt Maſter, and ſtudying a little of the French Air, to give it ſomewhat more of Gayety and Faſhion. Thus being farther from the Sun, we are of later Growth than our Neighbour Countries, and muſt be content to ſhake off our Barbarity by degrees. The preſent Age ſeems already diſpos'd to be refin'd, and to diſtinguiſh betwixt wild Fancy, and a juſt, numerous Compoſition. So far the Genius of Your Grace has already prevail'd on Us: Many of the Nobility and Gentry have follow'd Your Illuſtrious Example in the Patronage of Muſick. Nay even our Poets begin to grow aſham'd of their harſh and broken Numbers, and promiſe to file our uncouth Language into ſmoother Words.

Once more, therefore, I preſume to offer My Self and this Compoſition with all humility to Your Grace's Protection, at leaſt till I can redeem ſo mean a Preſent by One which may better deſerve Your Acceptation. Be pleas'd to pardon my Ambition, which had no other means to obtain the Honour of being made known to You, but only this. The Town, which has been ſo indulgent to my firſt Endeavours in this kind, has encourag'd me to proceed in the ſame Attempt; and Your Favour to this Trifle will be a good Omen not only to the Succeſs of the Next, but alſo to all the future Performances of

Your Grace's moſt Obedient

and moſt Obliged Servant,

HENRY PURCELL.

FINIS.

Advertiſement.

IN order to the ſpeedier Publication of this Book, I employed two ſeveral Printers; but One of them falling into ſome trouble, and the Volume ſwelling to a Bulk beyond my expectation, have been the Occaſions of this Delay.

It has been objected that ſome of the Songs are already common; but I preſume that the Subſcribers, upon peruſal of the Work, will eaſily be convinc'd that they are not the Eſſential Parts of it.

I have, according to my Promiſe in the Propoſals, been very carefull in the Examination of every Sheet, and hope the Whole will appear as Correct as any yet Extant.

My deſire to make it as cheap as poſſibly I cou'd to the Subſcribers, prevail'd with me ſo far above the conſideration of my own Intereſt, that I find, too late, the Subſcription-money will ſcarcely amount to the Expence of compleating this Edition.
